Narrative:

The process for identification and prioritization of improvement and repair projects for the Indian Affairs education construction program is based on a building's Facility Condition Index (FCI) resulting in a building condition rating of poor, fair, or good. Facility Condition Index is the estimated cost of all repairs divided by the estimated cost to replace the building in kind.

The identification process is a collaborative effort between the Bureau of Indian Education and the Office of Facility Management and Construction utilizing established ranking criteria and risk assessment tools to prioritize improvements and repair projects for those buildings with an FCI ranking of poor. This fully documented process emphasizes stakeholder participation and validates improvement and repair priorities for funding. The process is also applicable to buildings with an FCI rating of fair or good when a repair item is linked to critical system failures (i.e. roofs, HVAC, fire alarms, electrical systems) and may pose a life/safety threat to the occupants or may require the temporary closure of the building.

The following report consists of building FCI data through December 31, 2010. A building's FCI can change daily.

For updated FCI data, please contact the responsible Regional Facility Manager.
